"Reseña del editor A través de su estilo decorativo inconfundible, el artista checo y maestro del art nouveau Alfons Mucha (1860-1939) definió la estética de fin de siglo. Sus sugerentes composiciones de motivos ornamentales, flores y bellas mujeres de evocadoras tonalidades melocotón, oro, ocre y oliva se convirtieron en paradigmas de los años de la Belle Époque. La obra de Mucha dejó su impronta en las ilustraciones, los carteles, las postales y los anuncios de su época. Sus llamativos carteles de la actriz Sarah Bernhardt se hicieron especialmente famosos. Junto a su delicada obra decorativa, Mucha también enarboló fuertes convicciones políticas. A través de su monumental ciclo Epopeya eslava expresó su apoyo incondicional al paneslavismo, que propugnaba la independencia política de las naciones checa y eslava del Imperio austrohúngaro. Este libro, realizado con la colaboración de la Fundación Mucha, ilustra las obras principales y presenta todas las facetas artísticas de Mucha, desde motivos decorativos hasta ilustraciones de libros, pasando por carteles, fotografías y pinturas monumentales. Biografía del autor Tomoko Sato estudió historia del arte y arquitectura en la Universidad de Reading, y museología en la Universidad de Manchester. Exconservadora de la galería de arte Barbican de Londres, desde 2007 es conservadora de la Fundación Mucha. Ha comisariado numerosas exposiciones de Alphonse Mucha y de arte moderno, diseño y fotografía."
