"Críticas ""Ghemawat aims his advice at businesspeople (and business students), but his work will also enlighten readers outside the business world who want to understand international trade and investment."" -- Foreign Affairs Advance Praise for The New Global Road Map: from the foreword by N. Chandrasekaran, Chairman, Tata Sons-- ""Pankaj is unique in his ability to connect theoretical rigor to practical decision making on the ground. I highly recommend this book--and Pankaj's sensible approach more generally--as a crucial voice to counter the oftentimes bombastic nature of our current dialogue on the future of globalization."" Fernando A. Gonzalez, CEO, CEMEX-- ""The new book by Professor Pankaj Ghemawat could not be more timely. As a brilliant and sensible voice in the field of business strategy, he has long provided useful guidance for how to create lasting value. Now he connects new dots to show that the challenge is not to opt between local retrenchment or pursuing a mindless globalization but to find the right balance between them."" Jean-Pascal Tricoire, Chairman and CEO, Schneider Electric-- ""Pankaj delivers his views on globalization based on a wealth of facts and data. He pivots globalization on the strength of each local market, an approach that keeps at bay emotional perceptions. In this more complex world, Pankaj proposes avenues for business leaders to strategize and execute on their internationalization programs. An important read for all companies who move in the larger world!"" Praise for Redefining Global Strategy: ""Pankaj Ghemawat has created an important strategic guidebook for leaders of the globally integrated enterprises of the twenty-first century. His analytical framework is both visionary and pragmatic--aware of the broad historic trajectories of globalization, but grounded in the real kinds of decisions business leaders have to make now."" -- Samuel J. Palmisano, former Chairman of the Board and CEO, IBM Corporation Praise for World 3.0: ""Pankaj Ghemawat has provided an impressive and comprehensive analysis of the world's situation in times of globalization and strong economic and social imbalances. His book contributes to fostering the right mindset that will enable us to reshape this world in a sustainable way."" -- Mohammed Yunus, founder, Grameen Bank; recipient, Nobel Peace Prize Reseña del editor Global strategy expert Pankaj Ghemawat helps business executives around the world make sense of the changing views on globalization and provides frameworks, tools, and advice for realigning their strategies and organizations around the new realities. Corrects misperceptions about globalization drawing upon the most up-to-date data available Explains how levels of globalization are changing Focuses on the implications for strategy and gives leaders new ways to think about where to compete, how to compete, and how to organize on a global stage Provides clear and actionable tools and frameworks, including how to apply time-tested frameworks in the new global environment Spells out the distinct implications of the changing environment for firms in advanced versus emerging economies Makes ideas concrete via fresh company examples selected for diversity across countries/regions and industries Supported by a rich set of online resources (>20,000 maps, custom visualization platform, new version of CAGE Comparator analysis tool, etc.) Audience: Senior executives who formulate global strategy Leaders, managers, and employees in MNCs Consultants in related fields around the world Ghemawat followers Announced first printing: 20,000 Laydown goal: 4,000 Biografía del autor Pankaj Ghemawat--globalization and business strategist, professor, and speaker--works with organizations and policy makers around the world to help them anticipate and prepare for economic shifts.
