"Pressestimmen 'Who better than this powerful team of leading UK-based academics to analyse and explain the human stories behind the so called `migration crisis' of the Mediterranean? Essential for academics and policy makers alike, this book provides a new and original interpretation of contemporary migration processes to Europe.' Roger Zetter, Refugee Studies Centre, University of Oxford 'The most insightful publication currently available on one of the most crucial issues of our times. Beautifully written, powerfully argued and profoundly compassionate, it will further enhance the impact of the research it is based on. It deserves to be very widely read.' Michael Collyer, University of Sussex 'Essential reading for all scholars of migration and refugees. Through expansive and original interviews with 500 people on the move, this book illustrates the routes people take to Europe, the reasons they take them, and the extraordinary challenges they face along the way.' Jennifer Hyndman, York University, Canada 'In the face of the most serious crisis of forced displacement since WW2, this detailed study provides critically important information and analysis.' Iain Levine, Deputy Executive Director for Program, Human Rights Watch Über den Autor und weitere Mitwirkende Heaven Crawley is professor of international migration at Coventry University's Centre for Trust, Peace and Social Relations and senior research associate at the Overseas Development Institute and Refugee Law Initiative. Franck Düvell is associate professor and senior researcher at the Centre on Migration, Policy and Society at the University of Oxford, member of the Common Room of St Antony's College, Oxford, and advisor of the Migration Research Centre at Koc University, Istanbul. Katharine Jones is a senior research fellow at Coventry University's Centre for Trust, Peace and Social Relations. Simon McMahon is a research fellow at Coventry University's Centre for Trust, Peace and Social Relations. He has been a visiting researcher at the European University Institute in Italy, the Pompeu Fabra University in Spain and the Colegio de la Frontera Sur in Mexico.
